On January 3, Dr. Anjum Iqbal, Chief Executive Officer of KORA Quality Services, visited the Capital University of Science & Technology (CUST) for a research-based discussion focused on industry-related projects and Final Year Projects (FYPs). During his visit, Dr. Anjum Iqbal emphasized the importance of aligning academic research with practical industry needs, particularly in the field of facility management and quality services. He encouraged collaboration between KORA Quality Services and CUST to provide students with opportunities to engage in real-world projects that address current challenges in cleaning technologies, facility maintenance, and operational efficiency. This initiative aims to enhance the relevance of students' research work, foster innovation, and prepare graduates for industry demands. The discussion showcased valuable opportunities for students to engage in meaningful research that directly addresses the challenges faced in facility management and quality services.

The visit highlighted the potential for ongoing partnerships to support applied research and knowledge exchange between academia and industry.
